THEME

Effluent Treatment Plant (ETP) now a days is considered as a gate way of sugar & distillery units and a controlling station to decide the operation of sugar & distillery units in view to comply the environmental norms. Efficient operation of ETP has become a need of hour which also otherwise reflects the status of fresh water consumption through three R's (reduce, reuse and recycle). Although many sugar & distillery units have upgraded their ETP system as per the guidelines of CPCB and also might have achieved the notified bench marks of CPCB but this is not the end of our journey until all the sugar & distillery units will comply the notified norms on sustainable basis. In this regards, National Sugar Institute, Kanpur has already rolled out training programmes organized every year since 2016 before the commencement of season intending to keep updated the ETP officials with respect to efficient ETP operation and techniques of accurate effluent/ water analysis. This year also such a training programme is scheduled on virtual platform covering operational and analytical aspects of ETP (sugar & distillery units). Officers, operating & analytical staff of ETP of sugar & distillery units are eligible to participate in this training programme after getting themselves registered through online / off-line.
